

WEBINAR

Behind Joint Commission's Accreditation 360, Parts 1 & 2

Clinical Quality Insights

Be prepared for surveys and the accreditation process in January 2026 and beyond.

TJC's Accreditation 360 initiative is big. But are the changes truly significant or just minor course corrections? In our view it's a little of both.

As with any large change there is a real danger that your efforts to prepare for 2026 will become mired in the thousands of small differences that don't really change anything significant.

Our experts with more than six decades of experience in Joint Commission accreditation and CMS certification will help you separate the few significant changes from the thousands of trivial modifications, allowing you to focus on the few issues that truly deserve your attention. There will be two webinars: one based on change in physical environment expectations and one focusing on everything else.

These free Chartis webinars will help you

- Understand the motivation for TJC's Accreditation 360 changes
 - Identify the few things that may deserve extra attention during survey preparations
 - Use changes in the standards to make life easier for your associates at the point of care and service
 - Relieve the natural anxiety attendant to big changes such as this

Part 1: Physical environment

Faculty: Steve MacArthur & Lori Dinney

Part 2: Overview of the new expectations

Faculty: Steve Chinn & Bud Pate

Join our faculty of experts as they help you create and maintain a credible and reliable peer review process, including internal and external reviews, with tips for high degrees of standardization and optimized inter-rater reliability.
